DIG OUT THOSE OLD WEDDING DUDS AND JOIN THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY PARTY

You don't have to be a kid to dress up in those old wedding clothes up in the attic.

The Montana Historical Society is hosting a wedding dress up party at Montana's Museum Sept. 8, Thursday, at 6:30 p.m. in honor of the Society Press' new book, "I Do: A Cultural History of Montana Weddings," by Martha Kohl.

"We are announcing this a little earlier than usual to give people a chance to dig out those old wedding dresses, veils, bridesmaid dresses and tuxes to get ready for the party," Society spokesman Tom Cook said.

Prizes including copies of the new book will be given for the most historic bridal gown, most unusual bridal gown, best groom attire, most beige mother-of-the-bride dress, most classic bridesmaid's dress, longest marriage and newest marriage.

Of course, cake and punch will be served and Kohl will be on hand to talk about her new book that is available in the Museum Store and sign copies.

There is no charge for admission to the event.
